LOCAL MEMBERS OF MOOSE GOING TO CONFERENCE

Approximately 50 members of Warren Lodge, No. 109, Loyal Order of Moose, are making plans to attend a Piquette Governor's Conference of the Legion of the Moose, to be held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Bradford, it was announced today.

Delegates from lodges in each of the 48 states in the union will be in attendance as well as all supreme lodge officers, it was stated.

During the sessions, a class of candidates will be enrolled in the lodge and also in the Legion it was stated. A very interesting program has been arranged.

Among those who will be in attendance are U. S. Senator James J. Davis, piquette governor of the order, and Lawrence Grove, of Cleveland, grand governor.

Arranges Classes

JOHN H. KIRK

John H. Kirk, Erie district representative of the Pennsylvania State College extension services is completing arrangements for 1940-41 evening class centers at various points in Erie, Crawford, Warren, McKean, Forest, Venango, Mercer, Lawrence and Clarion counties. The classes are conducted by Penn State at the request of industrial or educational agencies in the communities. Kirk, who is starting his fourth year as district representative, has his office at 404 Ariel building, Erie. He also organizes courses in foreman training for industrial firms and represents the college in a number of other projects in these counties.

Y.M.C.A. To Sponsor Boys' Trip To Game

The Warren Y. M. C. A. boys' department will sponsor a boys' trip to the Pitt-Fordham football game in Pittsburgh on October 19, it was announced today by T. F. Eppley, boys' director of the association, who will be in charge of the trip.

The trip is open to all the younger boys of Warren and will be made by chartered bus, it was stated. Reservations for the trip must be made at the Y. M. C. A. by the close of next week. Limited space in the bus restricts the number it is possible to take, so reservations will be held in the order in which they are received.

A nominal all-expense fee will be charged, including transportation meals, ticket to the game and leadership. It was stated. In addition to the game, the boys will be given an opportunity to visit the Carnegie Museum Bureau of Fine Arts, Pitt campus. Liberty tubes and other spots of interest. Further information can be obtained at the Y. M. C. A.

COIN PRODUCTION INCREASES

TIMES TOPICS

TRAFFIC HELD UP

A broken draw-head on Extra North 4536 freight on the Pennsylvania railroad held up traffic at the western approach of the Glade bridge for a short time this morning, cars detouring by the cemetery road until a pusher engine was secured to move the train off the crossing.

REFEREE SPEAKS HERE

William "Red" Friesell, of Pittsburgh, prominent football official will address members of the Conewango Club this evening at their opening dinner of the season. The Conewango Club bowling league will get underway next Monday evening.

START BUS SERVICE

Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines will start interstate bus service between Pittsburgh and Harrisburg over the new Pennsylvania Turnpike on Saturday, October 5, according to Harry S. Crawford, regional manager of the company in the Pittsburgh area. Five hours and fifteen minutes will be required to make the trip from Pittsburgh to Harrisburg.

DEMO WOMEN MEETING

The Women's Federated Democratic Club of Warren County will hold the regular meeting Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock at the Democratic headquarters near the Exchange hotel. There will be no tuxen dinner as was formerly planned but the committee will serve light refreshments. Speakers and candidates will be on hand.

ATTEND MEETING

Several from Warren Lodge No. 223, B. P. O. Elks, were in attendance at a banquet and meeting of the Oil City Lodge of Elks last evening when Ward M. Knibb, of Meadville, district deputy grand exalted ruler, paid his official visit. Those from here who attended included Exalted Ruler H. L. Miller and Past Exalted Rulers, A. A. Albaugh, E. W. Hildum, R. L. Ruhlman and E. C. Lynch.

UNLIMITED QUOTA

Telegraphic orders were received at the main recruiting station in Buffalo and forwarded to the sub-station in Jamestown on September 30 to make all possible enlistments in the navy without regard to monthly quotas. Accordingly this will remove the limit of 160 recruits assigned last week to this district for the month. All men who have been qualified for enlistment both mentally and physically and upon completion of their necessary papers will be sent to the training station for a period of six weeks immediately after enlistment instead of being held over for any period of time. An additional medical officer and two assistants have been ordered to this district to aid in the examining of recruits. Office hours at the navy recruiting station in room 22 at the post office building in Jamestown, N. Y., are 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., Monday through Friday and 9 a. m. until 1 p. m. on Saturday.

AMUSEMENTS

AT LIBRARY THEATRE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, "HIRED WIFE"

Believing that laughs create one of the most popular forms of entertainment these days, Universal studio executives have loaded their program with comedies.

One of the foremost of these is "Hired Wife" which comes to the Library Theatre Friday and Saturday.

Rosalind Russell, Brian Aherne and Virginia Bruce are co-starred in the picture with strong support given them by such capable actors as Robert Benchley, John Carroll, Hobart Cavanaugh, William Davidson, Richard Lane and Charles Smith.

The story is one of humorous intrigue concerning a girl who marries the man she loves in order to get him out of a business jam, then she tries to keep him away from the girl he loves.

William Settle, who won much praise for his direction of Deanna Durbin in "It's a Date," handled the production and directorial reins. Glenn Tryon, one of the screen's top comedians a decade ago, was the associate producer.

GRANGERS HOLD OPEN MEETING AT YOUNGSVILLE

Youngsville, Oct. 2.—The Brokenstraw Grange had a fine open booster night program Saturday with a good attendance. An officers' drill opened the program, followed by prayer by the chaplain, a salute to the flag and a roll call. Greetings from the national master, L. J. Taber, were read by the local master, Ward Propper.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hartley, noted in the state Grange, as the oldest married couple in the Pennsylvania Grange and in the local Grange as the oldest members, were present. They wear lightly their 84 and 83 years, respectively. Mrs. Hartley sang a song and Mr. Hartley gave an account of the founding of the Brokenstraw Grange and of the early days in Grange life.

Four young men, Messrs. Olson, Hauptman, Williams and Haight, dressed in costume, sang as a quartet a barbershop song, Mrs. Hauptman gave a reading, "The Farm Family." An accordion solo was given by Ted Huchabone from Starbuck. Mrs. Florence Hyde in costume, assisted by Sue Williams, gave a monologue. A duet of guitar and banjo was played by Kenneth Haight and Dean Hyde.

A reading, "Farmers on the Defense," was given by Mrs. Nina Haight. One of Stephen Foster's numbers was sung by Edolph Johnson and a beautiful piano solo was played by Miss Shirley Johnson.

Following the program guests were invited to the dining room for refreshments and a social time.

The next meeting of the Brokenstraw Grange will be Oct. 8th, when the local degree team will put on the 3rd and 4th degrees for a class being initiated. On Oct. 18th the same team has been invited to initiate into the same degree a class at New London Grange.

DINNER MEETING
A very interesting dinner meeting was held Monday evening by the Methodist Sunday school board, with 21 members present. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Walters acted as hosts and hostesses at the fine dinner served. Rev. ## NYA TO PLACE EMPHASIS ON MANUAL WORK

The National Youth Administration is placing much greater emphasis than in the past on construction work and work with tools, power and hand. The purpose, of course, is the obvious one of getting NYA as closely as possible into the defense program. The move is a step toward liquidating a kind of national deficit whose existence and significance are only now coming to be realized, a shortage in skilled man power. National Youth administrator Aubrey Williams has recently stated "We are shifting the emphasis of the NYA program from white collar projects to manual and mechanical types of work. . . . Such things as typing, tabulating, filing, acting as recreation leaders and making traffic surveys, will be reduced to a minimum. Instead, the great bulk of these youngsters, probably 90 per cent, are to be given work that will compel them to use their hands."

With this thought in mind, such projects as the Fourth Avenue paving project are receiving special emphasis in this county in order to fully cooperate with the defense program. The NYA is eager to provide this work experience, so far as possible, to every unemployed out-of-school male youth between the ages of 18 and 25. From time to time, openings will also be available for girls, in clerical and other capacities.

The local NYA office is anxious to make a complete survey of unemployed out-of-school youth in Warren County, and therefore urges all young men and women between the ages of 18 and 25 who are out of school and unemployed to register at the local office which is located on the third floor of the Court House in Warren.

CHURCH REVIVALS

PILGRIM HOLINESS

"Repentance" was the theme of the message delivered last night by Rev. G. V. Skinner at the "Little White Church" in Fourth avenue. The evangelist's wife led the congregation in a spirited song service.

A special duet on the electric Hawaiian and Spanish guitars was enjoyed and appreciated by all in attendance. Rev. and Mrs. Skinner sang two selections, "He Took Away My Heart of Stone" and "Have a Little Talk With Him."

An invitation is extended to all to enjoy the ministry of these workers in song, music and the Word. Worship periods begin at 7:30 o'clock nightly.

ing a talk and helpful suggestions for the work of the Sunday school.

Plans were made for a Rally Day program on Oct. 20th with Mrs. Detar, Mrs. Sellin and Mrs. Shippe as the committee. Names of new teachers for the classes recently made vacant, when the teachers of these classes left town for new duties, were suggested.

It was decided, beginning Oct. 8th, to change the time of opening from 9:45 a. m. to 10 a. m. for the church school. With regret the resignation of Paul Getts as superintendent of the school, was received. Though names were suggested for this office, the position has not yet been filled.

BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Bates of Bates street are this week enjoying a visit from a cousin of Mrs. Bunce.

The U. B. Ladies Aid will meet Thursday at 2:30 p. m. on Highland avenue with Mrs. Alfred Smith and on the same day in the evening the choir will meet at Mrs. Mae Freeborough.

The first regular meeting of the Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service will be held in the church on Friday afternoon, Oct. 4th, at 2:30 p. m. There will be an installation and devotional service conducted by the pastor in which the new officers will be installed. Other program features are being planned and refreshments and a social time will be provided by the Violet Circle. All ladies of the church and friends are invited.

"Pennsylvania Days", To Stimulate Sale and Distribution of State Products, Under Way

Philadelphia, Oct. 3. (P)—A week-long drive of "unprecedented scope" to stimulate the sale and distribution of Pennsylvania's products gets under way tonight at a dinner meeting of eastern business leaders.

A committee in charge of the "Pennsylvania days" campaign reported that special newspaper advertising, window displays public meetings and other promotional efforts will be used to further sale of the commonwealth's products. Secretary of Commerce Richard P. Brown, who will speak at tonight's banquet, endorsing the drive, declared: "The 1940 Pennsylvania days campaign can prove most helpful toward attaining the three highly desirable goals of increased sales, stimulated production, and more widespread employment within the state. . . ."

Present at tonight's dinner will be "Miss Pennsylvania Days," Miss Marney Reed, of Chester Springs, Pa. She will go to Pittsburgh tomorrow to help open the campaign there.

She also has scheduled visits in McKeesport, Harrisburg, Sunbury, Williamsport, Bloomsburg, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Allentown, Bethlehem, Hazleton, Stroudsburg and Reading.

Kinzua Youth Takes Mechanics Training At Roosevelt Field

Clarence E. Smith, son of George Smith, of Kinzua, who enlisted in the United States Army Air Corps on August 6, at the recruiting station in Jamestown, is pursuing a course of instruction in airplane mechanics at the Roosevelt Aviation School, Roosevelt Field, Mineola, Long Island, New York. This school is one of the seven civil aviation schools designated by the government to instruct Army Air Corps enlisted personnel. The course will last six months and will cover all phases of repairing and overhauling of airplane engines and accessories. Upon completion of this course he will be returned to Mitchell Field or some other air corps station to perform the duties of a specialized air mechanic.

Private Smith was one of the eighteen students selected from the Army Air Corps base at Mitchell Field, Long Island, New York, to pursue this course.

Since his enlistment in the United States Army Air Corps he has been on duty with the 2nd Corps Area Air Corps Detachment, Mitchell Field.

He was graduated from the Kinzua High School with the class of 1939. He was active in basketball and baseball. He was a member of the Year Book.

He stated his reason for enlistment in the United States Army Air Corps was to take advantage of the many opportunities offered enlisted men in learning a trade in the field of aviation.

LOCAL MAN ONE OF DEBATERS ON FORUM PROGRAM

Kane Republican: "Roosevelt or Willkie, For Whom Shall I Vote." was the question under debate Tuesday night at the meeting of the Kane Men's Forum in the New Thompson hotel.

Approximately 100 men gathered to hear E. H. Beshlin, former congressman, of Warren, and W. F. Smith, past state commander of the American Legion, of Punxsutawney, debate on that question.

Mr. Beshlin, who spoke in favor of Roosevelt, cited the achievements of the Roosevelt administration as his main reason for voting on Roosevelt. Among other achievements he named the handling of the bank situation and later the Federal Insurance Deposit Corporation, which, he pointed out, benefited Kane recently; Agricultural Adjustment Administration, the Home Owners Loan Corporation, the Federal Housing Administration, the Labor Relations Board and finally, Roosevelt foreign policy.

He ended by stating that on the basis of this record of achievement for the benefit of all classes and groups that Roosevelt should be re-elected even though a re-election would be in violation of a no-third-term tradition.

Mr. Smith used as his main argument the subversive activities that have been active in this country with the approval of President Roosevelt and his administration. He attacked such actions and named lists of persons who are either Communists or Socialists and are now or have been actively connected with the United States government.

Mr. Smith concluded by saying that the United States is at a crossroad and that unless a change in government is made another four years will see the arrival of a national Socialist government. It is imperative, according to his viewpoint, to defeat Mr. Roosevelt and elect Mr. Willkie.

A period for general discussion followed the debate.

Lander

Lander, Sept. 30 About 100 people were present at the reception held at the Community House on Thursday evening for Rev. and Mrs. D. D. Samuelson, who have been returned to this pastorate for another year and for the teachers of the local schools. There are two new teachers, Miss Dorothy Tillotson, of Bear Lake, and Floyd Potter, of Warren.

Two contests were conducted by Mrs. H. M. Nelson and the program was in charge of Donald Mills. It consisted of group singing led by Mr. Mills with Mrs. Donald Ludwick at the piano. Two duets were sung by Mrs. Eleanor Ludwick and Mrs. Marion Thompson. Ernest Lindell spoke words of welcome to Rev. Samuelson and he responded. H. M. Nelson then welcomed the teachers and the principal, Herman Reed responded and introduced the new teachers.

Refreshments were served in the dining hall by the committee.

The Missionary Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service was entertained at the home of Mrs. Nora Hinsdale on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Ellen Mahan was in charge of the meeting and led the devotions. The study book was presented by Mrs. Helen Samuelson. A quilt which has been made by the group was tied and will be donated to the missionary work. Mrs. Hinsdale served a chicken dinner assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Bender, Mrs. Rose Falconer and Mrs. Jennie Belle Cowles.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reafersall, of Jamestown, were Sunday visitors of Mrs. Reafersall's mother, Mrs. Nora Mahan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Swanson and daughter Elaine and Shirley were dinner guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. Swanson's aunt at Pittsfield.

The rat population of the United States is about double that of the human population, or 260,000,000 rats, according to estimates.

Apples can get that "shiny" look if washed and wiped and then rubbed gently with glycerine, applied on a soft cloth. The apples make attractive candle holders for harvest tables.

NO PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS

While the president and vice president are elected indirectly through a list of "presidential electors" in each state, Pennsylvania voters for the first time this fall will cast their ballot almost directly for the candidates themselves.

An amendment to the election code effective this year provides that the names of the 36 presidential electors of each party shall be omitted from the ballot itself. Instead the name of the candidates for president and vice president are printed in papers on the ballot under the title "presidential electors."

A vote for those offices, the amendment states, shall be considered a vote for the presidential electors. The legislature adopted the change as a means of shortening the ballot to simplify it for the voter and to save work for election boards in counting the votes.

In past presidential elections, a space was set aside for a vote for all the presidential electors of each party. In addition there was a separate space to vote for individual electors. As a result the actual vote for all the electors on the winning and losing side never was the same. The first name on the lists always received more votes than succeeding names.

ARE YOU REGISTERED?

Registration officials have been doing all in their power the last few weeks to make it easy for the unregistered to enroll before the deadline Saturday.

According to reports progress has been made but it is estimated that there still remain a large number of unregistered persons in the borough and county.

If you are not registered you still have two days to take care of that important obligation. The registration office in the court house will be open tomorrow and Saturday from nine a. m. until nine p. m. The process of getting properly enrolled requires but a few moments. If you are listed in the ranks of the ineligible voters take time out and see to it that your name is recorded with other red-blooded Americans.

It is a matter of vital importance that every American cast his ballot in November. The election will be the most crucial, perhaps, in the history of the United States. Indeed, every man and woman with a red blood in their veins should want to have a voice in the great decision to be reached. There is something decidedly wrong with the mental state and the patriotism of any person who is not interested under such circumstances.

In a world ripped by war and destruction, the privilege of living and voting in a free land should challenge everyone to take a maximum of interest in the affairs of every department of our government.

It is foolish for anyone to talk about how much he loves America and of what America means to him—if he scorns the opportunity to vote.

Maybe the reason that Spain isn't interested in getting into the war now is because Franco doesn't want to see the people of his nation starve to death this winter because of a British blockade.

Little over $20,000 is required to put over the top the Warren General Hospital campaign for $50,000, scheduled to close tomorrow evening. From now on every pledge is important. How about yours?

Warren women are asked to sew for the Red Cross and there is no doubt they can be depended upon to respond in the same splendid manner that they did in 1918.

Not any too early to start getting ready for observance of National Fire Prevention Week which starts on Monday!

"Pennsylvania Days" are being observed—your part in the event is to help promote Pennsylvania products.

Yesterday's game at Cincinnati seems to indicate that the Reds could make use of Clyde Healy in their efforts to subdue the Tigers.

If you don't believe Halloween is just around the corner, ask any member of the North Warren Civic Club.

So that a man shall say. Verily there is a reward for the righteous: verily he is a God that judgeth in the earth.—Psalms 58:11.

Never, with the Bible in our hands, can we do rights to another, which, under the same circumstances, we would want for ourselves.—G. Spring.

Now Playing—The Return of the Sheik

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

AT SEA—This ship is over-run with young Puerto Rican students enroute to scores of universities and seminaries throughout the United States. Every year at this time they make the journey to New York, then scatter—some going to Tulane, some to Clemson, others to Ohio State.

These students are a lively bunch. Their ages average close to 17. Last night they threw 17 deck chairs overboard, and the Captain is very angry. He has called off the Captain's dinner, which is traditional. "That's nothing," a Florida junior from San Juan explained, "He hasn't given us a dinner in three years. We don't care."

THESE STUDENTS have portable phonographs and stacks of rhumba and cat-music records. They dance constantly. They can all speak English but seldom stray from their native Spanish. "We have to have a good time and blow off a little steam," one of them explained. "This is our last hour of freedom. Pretty soon we will be hard at work for nine long months."

This student fun sometimes takes on peculiar facets. They all travel first class—there is an almost impassable gulf between first and second class on this ship—and some time ago a number of the holder students persuaded a girl in the 2nd class to join them on aft deck about 2 a. m. for a little impromptu dancing. They sneaked her up the crew's passageway and began to dance. One man handled the portable phonograph while the others formed a stag line and took turns dancing. A few hours later a passenger who was unable to sleep wandered out on deck. He saw a group of young men standing around this girl, a heavy rope fastened to her waist. They had tried to sneak her below by the crew's passageway, but the door was locked. In desperation, they had decided to lower her over the side and let her swing aboard on B deck.

But it didn't work out. This passenger hurried away and wrangled a key from one of the officers, and the queen of night slipped back below, exhausted but unobserved.

The sea today is like a satin comfort. We are getting out of the trade winds. Not a clipper has passed, but we have raised a couple of tankers and one passenger ship on the horizon. One can almost be lulled to sleep by the soothing tinkles of the dinner gongs.

Speaking of dinner, if I gained weight easily, which I don't, I would be a whale. First breakfast, then lunch on deck, then lunch, then tomato juice on deck, and after the horse races, tea.

This is followed by dinner and dancing, then sandwiches, not to mention the fruit and the late coffee which Fred in the ship's kitchen willingly provides. In fact, you can sum up this trip by saying that all our time has been spent between going to and returning from meals.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1920
The American Textile Company that operates a glove factory on Central avenue expect to resume operations on October 11 and will give employment to a large number of women. Orders now on hand are sufficient to guarantee continuous operations for several months. The company plans to open a factory in Russell for the manufacture of petticoats and underwear.

In 1930
Proving that Warren county is still very much interested in agricultural activities, it is estimated that Farmington's First Community Fair, held Friday at Lander, was attended by fully 3,000 persons. Next Thursday a similar community fair will be held at Lottsville and on Friday and Saturday another will be staged at Sugar Grove.

Among those from Warren county who will attend the state convention of the W. C. T. U. at Uniontown starting October 17 are: Mrs. Mabel Dallas, Mrs. Ora Johnson, Mrs. Lena Jackson, Mrs. Bessie Walters, Mrs. Ada Ruhman, Mrs. Wesley Slawson, Mrs. Carrie Sager and Mrs. Florence Emery.

H. A. Johnston, of this city, was re-elected president of the board of trustees of the I. O. O. F. Orphans Home at Meadville yesterday. R. N. Brown, Ralph Knapp and Ross Wood also attended the meeting.

An explosion shook the center of Youngsville Friday afternoon. The explosion came from a gasoline tank in the basement of the A. B. C. store.

Miniature golf has been growing in popularity with each passing day and another course will be opened tonight—Orchard Terrace course near the Lacy school.

CRANIUM CRACKERS

ABOUT FOOTBALL

Now that the football season is getting under way, here are five questions about that sport.

1. At what school is Carl Snively head football coach?

2. What animal mascots parade at the annual Army-Navy football game?

3. Nile Kinnick received the Heisman and Maxwell trophies, two awards which go to the most valuable college player of the year, at the end of the 1939 season. For whom did Kinnick play?

4. Can you tell where each of these post-season games is played: Rose Bowl, Sugar Bowl, Orange Bowl, Sun Bowl, Cotton Bowl?

5. What two professional teams finished first in the eastern and western divisions of the National League in 1939?

STAMP NEWS

MOST important invention in the history of United States was the cotton gin, made by Eli Whitney, who is honored on the U. S. 1-cent stamp above, first of the inventors group of the Famous Americans series. The Whitney stamp will go on first-day sale at Savannah, Ga., Oct. 7.

Whitney was not a southerner. He was born in Massachusetts, educated at Yale, went to Georgia to teach. During his stay there, in 1793, he made his cotton gin, a simple machine that picked the lint from cotton seeds, 300 times as fast as by hand.

As a result cotton culture spread throughout the south, with a corresponding increase in slavery. If any one man can be blamed for the Civil War, it is Eli Whitney.

Whitney realized small profits from his cotton gin. He made his fortune from his inventions in firearms.

Kinzua

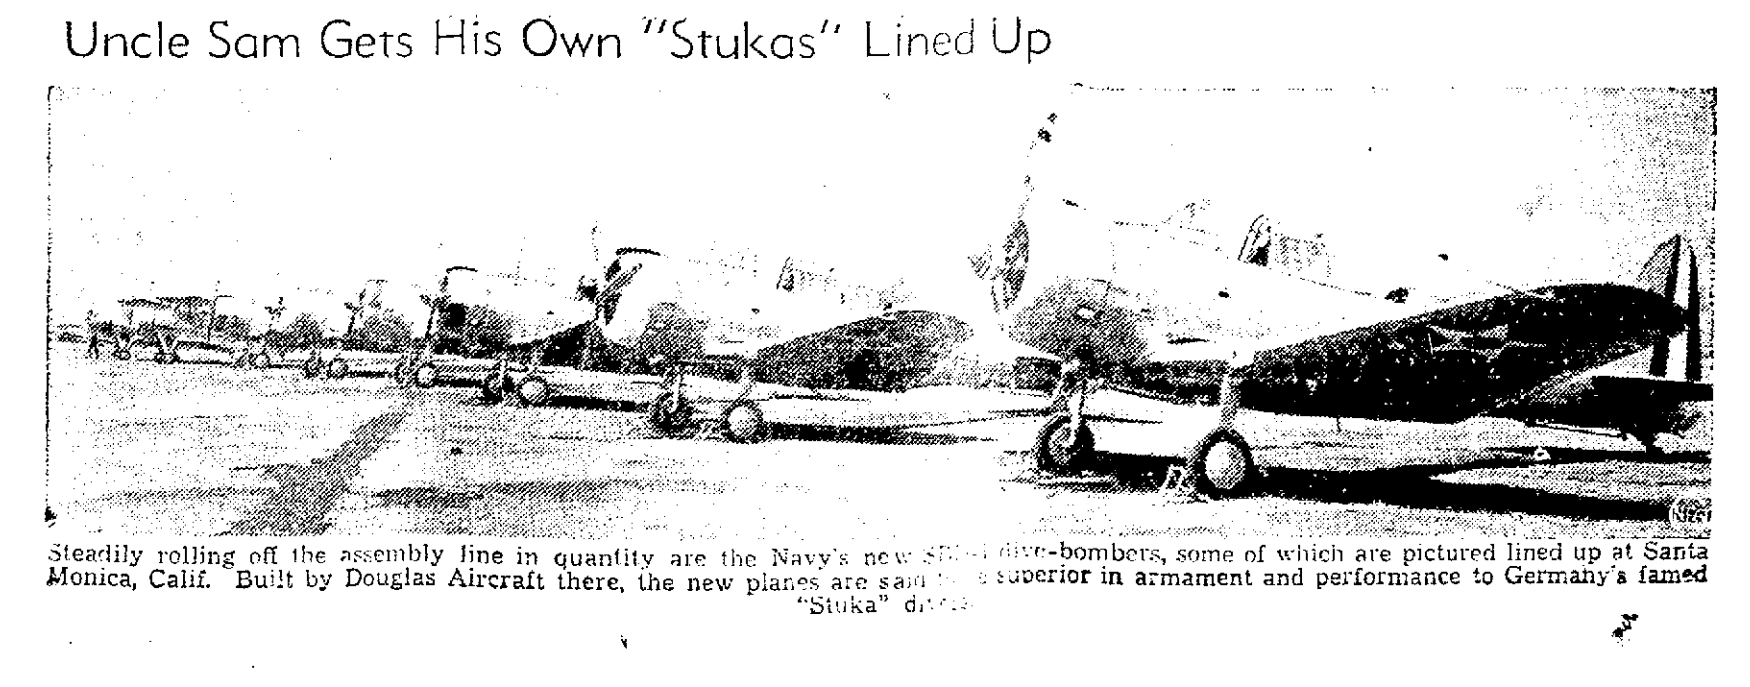

Kinzua, Sept. 27 Seventy-five members and friends of the Rhine and German churches tendered Mrs. Olga E. Chilson and daughter Mrs. Grace Ingerson and daughter Elsie a farewell dinner at the Community House Monday evening. There were also friends from Warren and Bradford. Following the dinner Mrs. Chilson led the singing of several hymns. Miss Gertrude White and Mrs. Paul Dunlevy spoke for the two congregations in wishing them the best of success in their new work. Mrs. White presented Mrs. Chilson with a purse of money as a parting gift and she also presented Mrs. Ingerson a gift from the Helping Hand Sunday school class.

The Chilsons and Ingersons left Friday for East Kane to make their home. Mrs. Chilson being assigned to that charge at the meeting of the Methodist conference at New Castle, on Sept. 15. They have made many friends here who are sorry to see them leave but the very best of good wishes go with them to their new work.

Wayne Price, from Lottsville, filled the Methodist pulpit here last Sunday evening, he being the new supply pastor appointed to the charge at the recent conference. He was accompanied by his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weinoid, Misses Eleanor and Dorothy Fogle and Robert Smith returned Sunday evening from a visit to the New York World Fair and Philadelphia.

Women Golfers Conclude Season With the Annual Awarding of Prizes on Wednesday

Women golfers brought their season to a close Wednesday, with a final tournament, luncheon and summary of the summer activities. Yearly prizes were awarded as follows: Link, Mrs. H. L. Banghart; selective gross, Mrs. David Beaty; selective net, Miss Helen Lauffenberger; round robin, Mrs. David Beaty; most improvement, Miss Betty Jane Branch; best three low net scores for any Wednesday during July and August, Mrs. Plumer Printz; September ringer board, Mrs. H. L. Banghart. A summary was given of out of town matches, played under the capable leadership of Mrs. Banghart, showing matches at Cambridge Springs, Wanango, Butler, Titusville, Jamestown, N. Y., and White Sulphur Springs. In addition, players from the local club were in attendance at "open days" at the Jamestown, Kane, Erie and Chautauqua clubs, and played in a three-way match with Titusville and Wanango at Cambridge Springs.

Mrs. Beaty, women's golf chairman for this season, expressed her deep appreciation to all her committee members and monthly chairman, with special thanks to Mrs. James Chapman, handicap chairman; Mrs. Banghart, out of town matches; Miss Mildred Blair, for caddy tournament; Mrs. Hugh Jamieson, for prizes; Miss Mary Branch, for junior activities; and to Harold Smith, club pro, who co-operated splendidly with the women's activities throughout the summer.

She spoke, also, of her appreciation to the following donors of special prizes: Mrs. Banghart, Mrs. P. E. Hertz, the Warren Dry Cole Hill, Sept. 30—Mr. and Mrs.

Charles S. Cole and children, Charles Jr., Lyle James and Evelyn and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Cole and son George Jr., Warren, were weekend guests at the home of their cousin Willis J. Wentworth and family near Pittsfield.

Miss Doris Crew of Pittsfield was a guest of friends at Warren
the first of the week.

Frank Martin of Youngsville and son Fred Martin of Olean were Sunday guests of friends and relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Monahan of West Palm Beach, Florida are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs.
Frank Martin at Youngsville and other relatives in this section. On their way home they will visit his parents at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. and also visit her brother William Martin and family at Wilmington, Delaware.

Miss Nellie Wentworth was a Warren visitor Thursday. She was accompanied by her brother Willis Wentworth of Pittsfield.

There was no school here Friday on account of the teacher,
Miss Margaret Dyer of Youngs-ville attending the Teacher's Institute held at Warren on that day.

Cole Hill had its first frost here Friday morning. No damage was done to vegetation, however. The beautiful dahlias are still blooming. Considerable damage was done in the surrounding valleys to the corn, tomato vines, flowers, sweet corn, etc. They were all killed. A few flakes of snow fell here Wednesday.

A buzzard was seen here Wednesday sailing overhead. A buzzard is a warm weather bird and is seldom seen here except in warm weather.

County Federation Has Fall Meeting Planned At Tidioute

Affiliated groups are preparing to send delegations to the fall meeting of the Warren County Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held Saturday in the community house at Tidioute, with the Woman's Club of that place entertaining.

Opening at ten o'clock with registrations and an executive session, the call to order will be given at 10:30 o'clock by the county
president, Mrs. H. R. Hawkey.
Mrs. F. E. app. also of Tidioute, will conduct a devotional period, followed by the singing of "Hail Pennsylvania" and the salute to the flag, in which all will participate. Mrs. M. E. Morrow, of Tidioute, will extend the greeting and Mrs. H. E. Priset, of Shel-field, will voice the response.

During the business session, routine reports will be given by the secretary, Mrs. E. S. Byers, of Tidioute, and the treasurer, Mrs.
T. R. Sponsler, of Sugar Grove.
Mrs. A. A. Grant, of the latter town, will present the finance report and the budget for 1940-41 and the president will appoint her special committees.

After special music, guests and club presidents will be presented and Mrs. H. R. Wilson, of Clarion, will speak of departmental plans.
A question period and announcements will occupy the remainder of the time until recess for the noon luncheon in the Tidioute Hotel.

Group singing will open the afternoon session at 1:30 o'clock, followed by the club collect and unfinished business.

The address of the day will be delivered by Mrs. Charles Riddlington, of Lansdale, a vice president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs, and a prominent
lege days.

Concluding, there will be special music, additional business, reports of special committees on place and resolutions and adjournment.

Women of the Moose Invited to Special Bradford Conference

Mrs. Hilda Anderson, senior regent of the Warren Chapter, Women of the Moose, announces that the program has been received for the "pilgrim governors" conference to be held Friday and Saturday in Bradford, reminding local members that all have been invited to participate in these sessions.

The conference is to be held under the auspices of the Pilgrim Council, with the senior regent of the honor chapter presiding.
There is but a limited number of such sessions held each year and local officials feel it a distinct privilege to be included.

Opportunity will be afforded for questions, remarks and reports on the chapter development program, and to share ideas and plans of procedure with other chapters. The ten major committee activities to be included are: Publicity, social service, home making, child care and training, library, alumni,
Mooseheart, membership and ritual.

A special feature will be the symposium and the ritualistic session of the "Academy of Friendship," qualified members being admitted in the latter session, to be presided over by Frieda Clinger, state dean of the Academy of Friendship.

The founder and builder of Mooseheart, Senator James J. Davis, will be the special guest of the women at this time.

Warren Players to Open Reservations Saturday Afternoon

Reserved seats for the Warren Players' opening production, "Margin for Error," which plays next Thursday and Friday evenings, October 10-11, at the Woman's Club auditorium, will be available at the box office in the Woman's Club from one until eight o'clock Saturday.

Box office hours from Monday through Thursday of next week are nine in the morning until eight at night and late reservations for Friday's performance will be taken one hour before the curtain.

Mrs. Raymond Steber, chairman of the box office committee, advises that season ticket holders and members, phone 776, or write in care of the Warren Players, to reserve their seats.

Mrs. Steber will be assisted by Mrs. Wallace Cowden, Mrs. Howard Alexander, Mrs. R. F. Otterbein, Miss Bernice Samuelson, Mrs.
Robert Schorman and Miss Mary Clark Hubley.

The campaign for memberships and season ticket sales was concluded last night and final figures will be available later in the week, when all returns have been received.

Golf balls first were made of horseshoe cases stuffed with feathers.

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

by Rita Mottet Hanson

YESTERDAY: Lovely Lynn Britton is in theory on her way to pay a visit to the court of a powerful Mongol prince. But things have happened this day that make her think she is more a prisoner than a guest. Now she sits with Temu Darin and the priest, Sherdock, waiting for a message from her half-brother, Dick.

Chapter Seven

A Prisoner

LYNN realized that there was more involved between her brother and the Prince than a social visit. The unexpected appearance of Temu Darin had frightened Dick out of his wits. "What relation are you to this experience?" she asked.

He smiled faintly. "I seem to be cast in the role of its best friend."

Lynn gripped her hands in her lap. "I disown it," she said. "If only they'd drop a hint of what it was all about!"

"So parents sometimes feel—at first," Sherdock acknowledged, "and spend the rest of their lives giving thanks that they brought the babe into the world."

"Doesn't that depend on how he turns out?" asked Temu Darin.

"All turns out well eventually," the old man murmured. "And that is the secret every mother knows about her child—even though she sees him on the gallows where people think he deserves to be."

"He does deserve it sometimes," Lynn stated fervently. "I'd like to hang this experience."

She saw Temu Darin's brow contract, but relaxation was stroking the lines of animation from the face of the priest. His old body settled in the chair as comfortably as a cat on a cushion. He nodded sleepily.

"No experience is ever wasted. No act is fatal because no act is final. At least of all death. Nothing is important but each moment as it passes."

Lynn felt the contagion of his drowsiness. Her hand relaxed. The tenseness left her body and drooping eyelashes brushed her cheeks.

"Your brother's message is not important," the gentle voice droned on. "We shall go now and let you have the word from him in the morning."

The Message

THE fragrance of lilies woke Lynn in the morning. Three perfect blossoms had been placed on her pillow, and a screen set before the kang on which she slept.

Little Bamboo handed her a bowl of hot rice water to drink and pointed to a breast-high jug from which steam arose.

"You bath."

Lynn stared. "Am I expected to climb into that thing and dunk?"

The little maid giggled and made jouncing motions.

Lynn dunked, and with her breakfast came a note from Temu Darin. He wrote in the beautiful script of one accustomed to brushwork.

"The message has come from your brother. I will see you after breakfast."

Lynn breathed a sigh of relief. Now, everything would be explained; Dick had not abandoned her. He had not disappeared completely as he had over that bank affair when she was a child. She awoke breakfast happily.

"Tell Temu Darin I have finished," she directed the serving boy as he cleared the table.

She went to her dressing-case mirror, retouched her lips, and admitted with detached amusement the lovely clear-cut curve of brows and lips and pointed chin. Beyond doubt, her features did possess a resemblance to the delicately drawn beauty of the goddess, Tara. The blue of her blouse deepened the dark, flame-blue of her eyes.

The minute Temu Darin stepped into the room, she knew his was not good news. This morning he was remote, official, the army officer on duty. His hands were empty and he spoke crisply.

A courier brought a letter from your brother about midnight. There was no direct message for you beyond these words: 'Tell Lynn whatever you wish.'

She stood gazing at him, the pupils of her eyes dilated.

"Your brother has run away from his obligations."

"What do you mean?" she asked faintly. Dick's words in the temple park flashed across her mind. He had made it clear that taking his medicine was not his way. "Let me see the letter."

"Sorry. It was not meant for you."

"What has Dick done that he shouldn't do?"

"You will be told when you reach Delun."

She rallied. "Under the circumstances, I shall not go to Delun."

He looked through a window at the lowering sky and continued as if she had not spoken. "We must start soon. It is bad country we are traveling through today by reason of the edge of the dunes near the edge of the dunes near the edge of the dunes."

"I am returning to Peking," she informed him in a firm voice.

"You are going to Delun?"

"You speak as if I were a prisoner."

"You are in charge."

"Why was Dick afraid of me?" she demanded. "Let me see the letter."

Everything was satisfactory.

Fashion Show

HELPLESSLY Lynn stepped back to let the man and his servant enter. They opened lined willow hampers and began to make their display.

Temu Darin came and stood near her.

"I do not want any of these things," she told him again. "I wish to return to Peking."

"The Prince's orders," he repeated inflexibly.

She scrutinized the merchant and his servant, hoping they might be of use to her, and pretended an interest in their wares that soon grew real. What girl could help her?

She picked up a gorgeous robe of pink satin embroidered in peony design and lined with squirrel. Lynn looked at the merchant's bland, blank face wondering if he understood English. "Is this hand embroidered?" she asked. He gaped vacantly and turned to Temu for enlightenment.

Temu's lips twitched as if he suspected and was amused by her ruse. "You see," he said, "the man does not understand English." He went on to assure her that the embroidery was all hand work.

Lynn drew the garment across her shoulders and walked about looking down at herself. What a riot the thing would be at home in San Francisco. Home! She gave Temu a speculative glance. If only she could get him out of the room she might be able somehow to bribe the merchant to help her. She went through the display choosing an orchid satin dress, and a black brocade crepe wrap lined with marmot and collared with mink. Holding a rose satin with a yellow crepe over-dress against herself she asked innocently, "Is this becoming?"

"Both to you and the gown," Temu retorted, his eyes smiling.

"If you'd go out and let me try them on..."

"No need of that," he informed her dryly. "They're made to your measurements."

"That's impossible," she exclaimed sharply.

He chose to explain. "Little Bamboo took the measurements when she unpacked for you yesterday. The tailors have been working all night. Anything here will fit you." He lifted a dainty wadded jacket in apricot-hued brocade that went with a pair of pale blue satin trousers. "Try on this jacket."

She obeyed mechanically, her mind on the merchant's boy, a bright, bullet-headed fellow with a flare for displaying his wares. The garment fit her beautifully. She studied its set across the back in the wall mirror, and while examining the cuffs she slipped a small diamond ring from her finger. It had been a gift from her mother, with a name and sixteenth birth date inscribed inside.

She directed the boy to lay aside several trouser suits, one in black and white, one in yellow, one a deep dark blue, rich as the shadows in a grotto. And as she chose them she managed to get the ring into her hands and let his sly intelligent eyes understand it was to be kept—or sell as she hoped—as a clue to her whereabouts.

Presently she looked up at Temu with gleaming, mocking eyes. "Have I chosen enough?"

He pointed to a tray of jewelry and hair ornaments laid out on the table.

"This is a silly farce," she reminded him, but her sports had risen over her success with the servant.

He picked up a ring of carved green jade. "Here is good workmanship," he said.

She wondered for a fraction of a moment if there was a special significance in his choosing a ring, held up her left hand concealing the ring from which she had removed the diamond.

Blazing Nazi Reception to British Raiders

This spectacular blaze of light is no giant July Fourth celebration. It is fireworks in earnest, as German searchlights grope skies and anti-aircraft batteries spit tracer bullets "against British air pirates during their attack on a German city," according to Nazi censor's caption.

Duplicate—None vul.

Opening—♦ 9.

By WM. E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

When you start to play duplicate bridge, counting your tricks becomes more important than ever. In duplicate you may bid for a game and make it, and still get a bad score. You must get the maximum out of the cards dealt to you.

I saw a very fine player slip up on today's hand. When South won the opening trick with the ace of diamonds and returned the queen, West won with the king. He immediately led a club and took the finesse. Now, of course, he had to lose a spade trick, and while he made four odd, he received bottom score on the board.

Before taking the club finesse, West should have reasoned that if the fourth spade could be established, his losing club could be discarded on it. If it could not be established, he could always resort to the club finesse.

So he should ruff the third diamond, cash the queen of hearts and lead the jack. When South's ten drops, West overtakes with the king and plays the ace of hearts, then three rounds of spades.

He loses the third round but the fourth spade is good for the club discard and five-odd is made, for a good score on the board.

TRIP OF CLASS TO WASHINGTON GIVEN APPROVAL

Russell, Oct. 3. At the monthly meeting of the Pine Grove township school board, held in the directors' room Tuesday evening, members of the senior class were granted permission to make the annual trip to Washington, D. C., next spring after the close of school.

The permission was granted with the understanding that written consent must be given by parents of each student, that the class furnish its own expenses, that an insured bus be used, and that all other requirements be met. Representatives of the class attended the meeting.

The sum of $100 was granted to Mr. Bennett, music supervisor, for the purchase of band instruments and music under the supervision of Director E. G. Beckwith, chairman of the curriculum committee.

Thanksgiving vacation was fixed, school to close at 4 p. m. Wednesday, November 27, and re-open at 9 a. m. on December 3.

Algot Lundgren, of Akeley, was unanimously named to the board to fill until the next municipal election the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ziba King.

Two teachers on the committee named to provide a schedule for playground supervision, were present and presented the proposed schedule, which was adopted.

APPEAL BOARD HEARS PROTEST OF LOCAL FIRM

The Clarendon Company, of 422 Third avenue, west, Warren, and four of its stockholders have protested to the tax appeals board against the U. S. Treasury's attempt to collect 1937 income and personal holding company surtaxes aggregating $65,591 from the company and individual members of the firm according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington.

Claims of the treasury were: The Clarendon Company, $52,890; Albert Rockwell, secretary, $4,952; estate of Mrs. T. C. Rockwell, $1,125; Miss Anna Rockwell, $3,012; May R. Henry, $2,906.

All the petitioners contended that the internal revenue commissioner had made technical errors. They insisted there was no deficiency in each case.

Funeral services in memory of Oscar Larson, of Scandia, were conducted from the Lutz Funeral Home yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with the Rev. Paul Young, of the Frewsburg Baptist church, officiating. He read the hymn, "Face to Face," during the service. Interment was in the Scandia cemetery with the following acting as pallbearers: Albert Johnson, J. G. Carlson, Levi Erickson, John Swanson, Andrew Erickson, and Anthony Peterson. Friends and relatives were in attendance from Jamestown, Frewsburg, Russell and Scandia.

VICE PRINCIPAL IS SPEAKER AT CLASS MEETING

Robert R. Young, assistant principal of the Young High School, was the speaker for the meeting held Tuesday evening by the McCurdy Men's Class of Grace Methodist church. He gave a very interesting, informal talk on European affairs.

Expressions of appreciation were extended to Robert Schorman, who has donated a camp site on the Cherry Grove road for the use of Troop 2, and to M. L. Farnsworth, who has given an old barn which will be torn down for material to make a camp headquarters.

Clayton Kyler, class president, heads the committee, assisted by James Adams, Robert Schorman, Robert Young and Donald Curtis.

HIGHWAY GROUP PLANS TO MEET AT WELLSBORO

Plans for bettering conditions along the Roosevelt Highway through this section will be discussed at the fourteenth annual meeting of the Roosevelt Highway Association of Pennsylvania in Wellsboro at noon on Wednesday, October 9th.

To encourage traffic along this important route, the association this year prepared an elaborate strip-map folder describing the interesting points from the west to the east border of Pennsylvania.

"The association is now asking for some financial support from business organizations along the Roosevelt Highway," announces Raymond Gibbs, secretary of the group in this state. Mr. Gibbs is secretary of the Scranton Chamber of Commerce, which contributes much of his time to the highway association and also provides the association with clerical service and office space.

Continuing, Mr. Gibbs says: "All money contributed for association purposes goes for promotion and publicity. There are absolutely no paid employees. Our sole object is to draw traffic to our beautiful Route No. 6 for the benefit of all business houses, tourist homes, hotels, and other similar institutions which can profit from increasing tourist business."

The association distributes its maps in large numbers through automobile clubs and similar organizations as far distant as the Pacific coast, and through its constant efforts it effected the expenditure of approximately $10,000,000 in improvements on the Roosevelt Highway in Pennsylvania in 1940.

"It costs much to press this work, and we sincerely hope that Warren county business houses will find it possible to contribute five hundred dollars this year," Mr. Gibbs states. "The contributions may be in any amount desired, but they should be made if possible at once."

He concludes with an invitation to any interested man or woman to attend the meeting at Wellsboro to participate in the open discussions at lunch.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE In Pennsylvania For Two-Day Train Tour

(From Page One)

Willkie's train was a half-hour late arriving in the jam-packed Pittsburgh station, where railroad police said the crowd was the biggest since the University of Pittsburgh football team returned early in 1938 from its Rose Bowl triumph over Washington.

As the parade moved along Grant street, a main business thoroughfare on the upper edge of the steel city's downtown "Golden Triangle," Willkie stood in his open car, waving and smiling at the throngs. At his side, on the top of the car, sat smiling, pretty Mrs. Willkie.

While Willkie departed from the station on a 50-mile, four-hour parade of Allegheny county's "workshop of the world," the nation's greatest concentration of industry, Republican State Chairman James P. Tamm met with Republican chairmen of western Pennsylvania at a downtown (William Penn) hotel.

Republican leaders estimated that 450,000 persons would hear and see the Republican candidate during the day. Delegations came from many western Pennsylvania counties to participate.

Willkie's visit to Pennsylvania came as a Republican registration drive to enroll voters reached its height in the last week that citizens may qualify to cast their vote, and state party leaders said they expected the interest aroused by the visit to be reflected in the registration totals.

Members of the Pennsylvania delegation were routed from their berths in Youngstown at 6 p. m. by a committee of Republicans who escorted them to a hotel for breakfast.

James, whose name was placed in nomination for the presidency at the Philadelphia convention before Willkie was nominated, met the presidential candidate and sat on a platform while Willkie addressed a gathering in the Ohio city.

With Willkie on the Pittsburgh tour was his running-mate, Senator Charles L. McNary, and National Chairman Joseph W. Martin, who replied recently to Democratic claims of victory in Pennsylvania with the statement that he realized this a "good fighting state" but he believed that Republicans would carry it "by a substantial majority."

McNary and Martin will speak with Willkie at the outdoor rally tonight (9 p. m.) which will be broadcast (NBC blue network).

Reds Pin Hopes On Bucky Walters' Arm In Second Game

Opener Shows Tigers Hammer Anything; Billy Myers Is Goat

Cincinnati, Oct. 3.—(P)—It looked again today like the National League had over-matched itself as the Cincinnati Reds reeled under the impact of an opening 7 to 2 defeat by the Detroit Tigers and sought desperately to come back.

Today's game at Crosley Field was only the second of the big series that decides the championship, yet the experts, a majority of whom picked Cincinnati to win, already were shaking their heads and wondering what could have brought them to make such a cockeyed choice.

The one hope of the Reds to avert a rout probably as disastrous as that they suffered a year ago at the mauling bats of the New York Yankees rested today in the stout right arm and cool pitching head of Bucky Walters.

If Walters could stop the Tigers and square the series before the two clubs switched to Detroit for the next three battles starting tomorrow, then there might be a chance for the locals. But the Reds looked bad in every way yesterday as the Tigers blasted Paul Derringer from the hill with a five-run assault in the second inning and then went on to win as they pleased.

It was obvious that Manager Bill McKechnie's boys had nothing resembling a batting punch as Bobo Newsom pined around the pitching mound and moved them down. And it was equally plain that the Reds were lightened up to the snapping point in the field.

Walters' opponent today was the Tigers' towering Schoolboy Rowe, who made a sensational comeback the past season after a trip back to the minors with a lame arm.

McKechnie refused to give up, naturally, but Bill must be beginning to wonder if he's lived a proper life. Yesterday's was the ninth straight world series defeat suffered by clubs under his management. The Yankees ltrounced his 1928 Cardinals four straight; and served his Reds the same bitter dish last autumn.

The Reds still were sadly crippled, with Catcher Ernie Lombardi and Second Baseman Lonnie Frey on the bench, and it looked increasingly doubtful that either would get into the play-off at all.

Dragons To Attend Massillon-East Fray

Forty Dragon gridriders will be guests of the Warren High School Athletic Association at the clash between Massillon and Erie East high schools Saturday night at the Erie Stadium. It was announced this morning by Director of Athletics J. B. Leidig.

The association arranges a trip to some major gridiron clash each year as a special treat for the varsity and reserves, and this season it was felt that an opportunity to see Massillon High, most noted scholastic team in the nation, would be as welcome as a college class.

The players will make the trip in cars driven by coaches, teachers and loyal supporters of the team.

Grayson's SCOREBOARD

It May Be True That a Club Can't Trade Itself Into a Pennant, but Tigers and Reds Prove It Pays to Have Someone With David Harum Touch

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

AN old baseball saying is that a club can't trade itself into a pennant, but this fall's world series combatants didn't do badly. Where would Detroit have finished without Richard Bartell, large Louis Norman Newsom and Billy Sullivan, not to mention Bruce Campbell and Ralph Kress?

And James Riley Turner and Joseph Reggs certainly did Cincinnati no harm.

More than any other one thing, the Tigers' success can be traced to the transaction of last December, which sent the 35-year-old Billy Reggi to the Cubs for the 32-year-old Dick Bartell.

Neither was supposed to have a leg under him, but the difference was that what they said about Bartell wasn't true.

The deal next in importance in the rebuilding of the Baker's outfit attracted attention in May, 1939, only because of the number of athletes involved.

It shipped Vernon Kennedy, Bobby Harris, George Gill, Rick Lawson, Red Laabs and Mark Christman to the Browns for Buck Newsom, Beau Bell, Red Kress and Jim Walker.

NEWSOM copped 20 games for the seventh-place Browns of '38, but many baseball men said that was where he belonged. . . . that he couldn't win under pressure.

Old Bo-Bo disapproved that belief this season by leading 21 engagements—two in one afternoon from the troublesome White Sox that sent the Tigers to Cleveland needing only one victory to take it all.

Bell went to the Indians for Campbell, whose left-hand hitting helped maintain the tempo of the savage Tiger attack.

Kress filled in acceptably when Bartell and Stanley Gehring were out.

Sullivan was obtained for Shick Coffman, a pitcher of no consequence.

Sullivan was a solid left-hand hitter, but with the Detroit brain trust seemed to realize how much he had improved as Newsom's battery partner in St. Louis.

And when a pitched ball chased Panky Higgins to the sidelines, the son of the old White Sox chased plate players on balls around third base that the Texas might not have got his hands on.

JIM TURNER was on the way to the minors when the Reds transferred Lou Scarsella to the Bears in return for the venerable milkman's contract.

The smart Yankees organization had an eye on putting something over when it gave Joe Reggs for Lou Gehrig.

Between them, Turner and Reggs accounted for 35 victories.

It pays a baseball organization to have someone with a touch of David Harum.

DRAGONS GOING TO OIL CITY FOR TILT UNDER ARCS

Coach Leidig will take a squad of 22 men to Oil City tomorrow night where the Dragons will engage in the first of two night games scheduled for this season.

The game is scheduled to get underway at eight o'clock, and the Blue and White lads will leave here by bus about four o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Leidig will probably start virtually the same lineup that faced Titusville here last Saturday: Bob "String" Brown and Don Wolfe at ends, Bill Sperry and Vic Huffman at tackles, Co-captain Walt Fredericks and Big George Niederer at guards, with Jim Harding at center.

In the backfield, Joe Tamburine will call the signals, with Floyd Landers and Paul Zahranski at the halves and Bob "Spinner" Johnson at fullback.

Gregorak and English are the probable starting terminals for the Oilers, with Truscott and A. Lenar at the tackles, Anderson and May at guards and Thurston at the pivot. Coach Mike Ferrare will start a backfield composed of D. Wood, Coyle, H. Wood and Brozski.

The Dragons are seeking their third victory which will give them a .500 average for the season to date, while the Oilers are after their initial win.

SOME EXPERTS PICK ZIVIC OVER HENRY

New York, Oct. 3.—(P)—Along Scrambled East avenue, there has been an unwritten rule the past couple of years—"Never bet against the Hammer."

Knowing this, and appreciating the fact that those acquainted in and with the business of bashing backs rarely invest their cocoanuts unless they've picked apart every angle, it is surprising, to say the least, to find several of our leading citizens getting off the Hammer now.

As you've guessed by now, the Hammer is Lil Perpetual Motion, Henry Armstrong. He defends his world welterweight championship against fearless Fritz Zivic, one of Pittsburgh's five flailing Zivics, in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

DUKE-VOL CLASH IS SATURDAY'S HEADLINE

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 3.—(P)—Southern football supremacy may be the victor's spoils when the Blue Devils of Duke and the Volunteers of Tennessee renew their colorful gridiron rivalry Saturday before a sell-out crowd of some 40,000.

The Blue Chips always are down when these two Dixie juggernauts collide, but seldom has so decisive a game been played this early in the season, with both teams untested in opening tilts.

NEWARK WINS FIRST LITTLE SERIES TILT

Parkway Field, Louisville, Oct. 2.—(P)—Blasting three Louisville pitchers for fifteen hits behind the four-hit hurling of Lanky George Washburn, Newark won the first game of the Little World Series tonight, 10 to 3, before a crowd of 7,700.

Line score: R. H. E. Newark . . . 10 241 011 10 15 1 Louisville . . . 000 010 011 3 6 2 Washburn and Padden: Pressnell, Hollingsworth (5), Shaffer (9) and Lacy.

BOWLING CHATTER

HONOR ROLL
Elks . . . . . 224
Patches . . . . . 225
Arcade . . . . . 225
Stanlon . . . . . 225

The second division of the Elks Bowling League, experienced with the older last evening, and the Times Square Service Station stepped off to an early lead by taking all four from Hoagvall's Hardware. . . . The South Side Market, Simonsen's and Soda Mineral were three-point winners over Lewis Market, Turner Radio and Garland Inn, respectively. . . . For the Leading Knights' division "Cully" Patches was the high individual performer, being the only one on the honor roll, hitting 224 in his third game for a total of 591.

The Foremen "B" five (see six) held their lead in the Struthers-Wells circuit with a clear sweep over the Process, but the Heaters set a new high game of 579 and high total of 2491 to do the same job on the Machinists and stay in second place, one game behind Foremen "B". . . . Foremen "A" and Sales took three-pointers from Engineers and Plate Floor, but the Engineers stayed in third position. . . . Cruckshank's 582 was the highest and most consistently good performance, while "Sport" Stanton clipped high single game with 225.

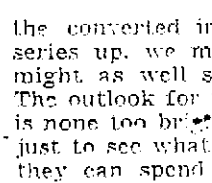

In Paris, they have been turning out artificial eyelashes to fit over the natural lashes, and each contain a tiny precious stone.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

Well, your agent's prognosis sheet seems to have a nice big blotch on it this morning, probably speckled there by the splash made by the dive the Reds took yesterday before the big bats of the Tigers. Usually, it is the winning hurler who is the hero of the ball game, but yesterday's star was little Eddie Joost, who filled in for the injured Lonnie Frey at second base. With Lombardi out of the ball game and Joost substituted for Lonnie, it was thought that a good loud foul was about all that could be expected out of the Reds against Buck Newsom, but light-hitting Eddie stood right in there and shined his reputedly feeble willow in front of the switches. Today it will probably be the Schoolboy against Bucky Walters, and unless the converted infielder stands the Tigers on their heads to tie the series up, we might as well fall right off the limb and the Redlegs might as well stay in Rhineland and save themselves railroad fare. The outlook for that seven-game series all of us were sagely predicting is none too bright at this moment, but we'll hang around until tonight just to see what develops. One consolation for the Red routers is that they can spend the winter morning, "If only Lombardi had been in there catching." That wasn't the cry out there last year!

JOOST

When the Dragons get through down at Oil City tomorrow night they can start right in pointing for their arch rivals, the Red and Green of Jamestown, due to step onto Russell Field a week from Saturday for the annual grid classic of this section. The week will doubtless be spent in working on a new lineup for the game, for four of the Dragon regulars will be forced to bite their nails on the sidelines because of New York's 19-year-limit. Veterans Vic Huffman and Bill Sperry, the Dragon tackles will be heached to conform with the Empire State's rules, and co-captain Joe Tamburine and Paul Zahranski, two of the hardest running backs in the Blue and White backfield, are also ineligible. Of course, this puts the locals at big disadvantage, but New York unions agree with the P. L. A. A. of vice versa, that when a man has reached the ripe old age of 19 he becomes a menace in a football suit. Pennsylvania follows along like a lamb next year as Wicht and his associates play stooges.

With the Dragons away Friday night, the Red Jackets take over as the only local gridiron attraction, as they take on Millvale Amvics Sunday afternoon at Russell Field. The Jackets have already easily disposed of two of the leading clubs in the Pittsburgh district, the Springdale A. C. and the Homewood Community Club, but Millvale is admittedly stronger this year than last, at least, so we were told by the manager of Homewood. As a matter of fact, whenever the local pees turn back a sandlot outfit from the Smoky City suburbs they deserve a pat on the back, for that section has long been known as a hotbed for semi-pro ball, and the circuits down there always turn out the best talent that can be hooked. The Jackets' schedule is so arranged that there will be no pushovers carded and the opposition will get tougher and tougher as the season progresses. Incidentally, when you go out to the game next Sunday keep your eye on Jack Wortcheck, who last year was packed for all scholastic halfback on the Pittsburgh Press' selection. Wortcheck will be carrying No. 29 and will be making his debut in the pro football world.

YEARS AGO IN SPORTS
October 3, 1920—Although outweighted by many pounds in the man, the Warren High School football team had no trouble in defeating Olean Saturday afternoon at Russell Field, 16 to 0. Leidig's crew, which has been using aerials with some success, found that it was not necessary to take chances and stuck to straight line bucks, end runs and off tackle shots which kept them deep in Olean territory most of the time. Joe Haunesser looks better each time he plays. October 3, 1930—The World Series players of St. Louis and the Athletics are resting today, with the A's enjoying a two-game lead. Gabby Street said he would send "Wild Bill" Hallahan to the mound in tomorrow's first game at St. Louis, while Connie Mack, as usual, kept his own counsel, although the guess is that he will send Grove and Earnshaw back in order to repeat their victories.

NEWSOM'S DAD DIES IN DETROIT HOTEL

Cincinnati, Oct. 3. (P)—Henry Q. B. Newsom, 65, of Hartsville, S. C., father of Louis "Buck" Newsom, died in his hotel room today less than 12 hours after watching his son pitch the Detroit Tigers to their first World Series victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Newsom said death was the result of a heart ailment from which his father had suffered for several months.

"It was only the second time he had seen me pitch," the son said, adding "I don't think he'd make it from home."

Newsom said that tentatively he planned to remain with the Detroit team for possible service during the series.

Newsom leaves two daughters and another son.

Daniel Defoe's "Robinson Crusoe" was published in 1719 and stamped him as one of the first realist writers.

Pitch By Pitch

In turning back the Reds yesterday, old Bo Bo Newsom, the pride of Hartsville, S. C., threw 46 fewer pitches than Derringer, Moore and Riddle, the Cincinnati hurlers. . . . The official figures show old Bo Bo chucked that apple exactly 102 times. . . . Derringer let loose 31 times; Moore, 104 and Riddle, 13.

tions in the past 24 hours included "great damage" to railways in the center of bomb-battered London and heavy hits in the heart of the Thames east of the city's heart, where the great East India and Millwall docks are situated.

The High Command gave no details of the sinking of the Highland Patriot.

Last night planes driving on Berlin were diverted from their course by anti-aircraft fire and one bomber was shot down, crashing in flames north of Berlin, said the High Command. The city's 4,000,000 residents underwent an hour and 12 minutes of alarm, routed from their beds for the fifth consecutive night.

crippled Rafaela Caruso.

The same two-judge court condemned to life imprisonment Mrs. Charles Favato, 45-year old rooming house keeper who confessed poisoning three men including her common-law husband and his son.

Dr. Horace Perlman who admitted poisoning a patient, Mrs. Jennie Pino, won a postponement of sentencing when he told the court he had discharged his attorney, Edward A. Kelly.

Obviously nervous, Petrillo was the first to be sentenced yesterday.

Of the 25 persons arrested in the investigation of the ring, blamed for at least 100 deaths, only three were acquitted.

cities—Hamburg, Stettin, Bottrop, Cologne, Hamm, Wilhelmshaven, Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Antwerp, Flushing, Ostend, Calais, Cherbourg and Ushant.

Hitler's High Command reported that planes "were driven from the original raid course by anti-aircraft fire" as they approached Berlin.

Berlin's 4,000,000 had their slumbers interrupted by a 72-minute alarm, and the capital's northwest industrial outskirts rumbled to the stammering din of anti-aircraft guns.

A German High Command communique said Nazi warplanes pounded railways, docks and shipping in widespread night attacks on Britain.

The British said several "Molotov breadbasket" incendiary bombs burst over a famous boys' school in southeastern England. No casualties were reported, and a roof fire was extinguished quickly. (Eton and Harrow are in southeast England.)

Repercussions of the sinking of the city of Benares, Canada-bound child refugee ship, were felt in England when the government announced the abandonment "until further notice" of the plan to send British children overseas to escape war hazards.

Visitors And Their Questions Are Invited At Annual Cooking School Being Conducted By Times-Mirror

Do your friends show you out of their kitchens?
The Times-Mirror has been checking up on these nervous relatives and friends who order innocent bystanders out of the mixing and baking zones in tones that suggest a scene of kitchen traffic isn't cleared promptly.
Even small girls, who are ever so eager to watch mother measure and blend and whip that good-to-lick icing, often are told to "run along now and stay out of the kitchen until mother is through." And in later years, when those girls are grown up and struggling with their own culinary problems, they still long to go sightseeing in a busy kitchen.
The Times-Mirror has located a competent specialist who will not be flustered by sightseers and questions. This nationally-known home economics authority, Mrs. Mabel Bowen, never has been known to shoo guests from her hospitable kitchen, even when the "S. R. O." sign went up.
Mrs. Bowen realizes that an experienced housewife is even more reluctant than a timid bride to inquire into the sad mysteries of cracked cakes, bitter coffee, watery custards, spotty laundry, balky kitchen equipment and obstinate nasty pastry that is always too long, or too short.
As this understanding home consultant says: "Strangely enough it is the minor steps in cookery that pile up the most trouble. We are all apt to develop bad habits in measuring and mixing that are not only awkward, but actually double the time and effort. The surest way to correct such faults and simplify every-day routine, is to watch someone who has specialized in studying this problem of trimming time and waste motion."
"Steady traveling from state to state proves that home problems are universal, for women in New Hampshire and Oklahoma watch to see whether I cream down flour, shorten and brown sugar in measuring, or spoon it lightly into the cup. When I ease piecrust gently into the pan and remind the audience to let the pastry relax, I get the same appreciative smiles in every section of the country."
Guests and pastry will have an equal chance to "relax" while the Times-Mirror's culinary expert keeps things humming in the fascinating completely-equipped Cooking School kitchen. Mrs. Bowen will answer written questions on all departments of household work while she deftly creates menu triumphs that the audience will watch in the making and sniff in the baking. These same stage successes will parade out of the Y. W. C. A. activities building to gladden home dinner tables, for the demonstration dishes will be distributed daily, like the free recipe sheets and filled market bags.
Impressive major awards are stacked in a Christmas tree heap for shrewd pupils at the Times-Mirror's worthwhile Cooking School, to be held October 8, 9, 10 and 11 in the Y. W. C. A. activities building.

Warning Issued By C. of C. Against Various Solicitors

The Warren Chamber of Commerce requests citizens of the community to notify the Chamber immediately if they are approached by representatives of an organization going under the name of "Federal Personnel Association" of Washington, D. C.
A communication from the National Better Business Bureau, Inc., indicates that the organization mentioned above is of questionable character; and the bureau issues warnings against other doubtful promoters, some of whom may attempt to work in Warren. One of these is a man named C. W. Myers, claiming to represent his former employers, the F. A. Davis Company of Philadelphia, a reputable medical book publishing company. This man calls especially upon doctors.
Another organization calling itself the "Fifth Avenue Center," has representatives soliciting orders for household medical supplies, stating that the profits are used for charitable work.
Commercial and industrial organizations are warned against the activities of Roy R. Averill, who calls himself a "Rat Control Specialist."
These warnings are issued by the Warren Chamber of Commerce, according to the secretary, in order that the members of the Chamber and their friends may be spared inconvenience and loss of money through entering into negotiations with questionable itinerants.

Sports Roundup

gave the veteran Jimmy Wilson a handsomely engraved watch for stepping in and catching the last eight games in the pennant drive, after Ernie Lombardi was hurt... Before yesterday's game scalpers were asking $50 for a pair of tickets... At one hotel the price was $70... Young Spike Briggs, vice president of the Tigers, told Del Baker: "Beat 'em four straight if you can to hell with the money." Whoever heard of a magnate talking like that?

Today's Guest Star
Haywood Brown, New York, P. M.: "Art Rooney welcomed Doc Sutherland back to Pittsburgh with a bagpipe band which spelled out J-O-C-K... If Pitt doesn't improve over its Ohio State showing, Chancellor Bowman may send the band around to Brooklyn to spell out P-L-E-A-S-E C-O-M-E H-O-M-E."

Cincinnati Specials

Just the same, scribes who covered the Pitt-Ohio State game last week say the best man on the field was Kircum, Pitt fullback... It is now pretty generally accepted that Steve O'Neill will replace Ralph Kress as coach of the Tigers... One thing the football season has moved so far is that Jackie Robinson ain't exactly a Ken Washington at left half for U. C. L. A.
